Live online learning requirements

This is an interactive live online course. You will participate from your own location through the IREM Learning platform. When you access your course main page, you will find a link to your Zoom live online classroom (if it does not appear, it will be available closer to the start date).

A live online classroom is interactive, meaning the instructor will share materials, write on a whiteboard, have two-way communications, and assign activities.

Technical Requirements

To attend a live online class, you must have the following:

- Laptop computer, desktop computer, or tablet
- Reliable internet connection
- Built-in or external webcam
- Speaker to hear the class
- Microphone to speak to the class (may be integrated with webcam)
- Ability to access a Zoom meeting

Test Your Device
